THE DAILY CHRONICLE

Main Edition | Tuesday, 10 November 2026 - Page 1

State assembly passes new urban transport bill after long debate

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days. Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter. Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Monsoon arrives early in Kerala, forecasters expect normal rainfall

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days. Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter. Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Metro phase three opens to commuters with six new stations

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days. Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter. Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Farmers welcome revised support price for kharif crops

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days. Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter. Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

THE DAILY CHRONICLE

Main Edition | Tuesday, 10 November 2026 - Page 2

Global leaders meet to discuss climate finance targets

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days.
Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter.
Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Trade talks resume as ministers seek tariff breakthrough

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days.
Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter.
Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Space agencies announce joint mission to study the lunar south pole

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days.
Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter.
Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Markets close higher as banking shares rally

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days.
Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter.
Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

THE DAILY CHRONICLE

Main Edition | Tuesday, 10 November 2026 - Page 3

Startup funding rebounds in the third quarter, report says

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days. Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter. Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Electric two-wheeler sales hit a record high this festive season

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days. Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter. Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Central bank keeps rates unchanged, signals focus on inflation

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days. Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter. Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Home side clinch the series with a thrilling last-over win

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days. Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter. Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

THE DAILY CHRONICLE

Main Edition | Tuesday, 10 November 2026 - Page 4

Young sprinter breaks national record at the athletics meet

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days.
Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter.
Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Hockey team announces squad for the continental trophy

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days.
Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter.
Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Chess prodigy, 15, becomes the newest grandmaster in the country

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days.
Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter.
Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.

Festival line-up announced with films in twelve languages

Officials said the decision followed several rounds of consultation with stakeholders, and that the details would be published on the official website in the coming days.
Speaking to reporters, a senior official described the move as an important step and said the government would review its progress every quarter.
Experts welcomed the announcement but cautioned that implementation on the ground would decide whether the measure meets its goals.